Pastoral Letter

When I moved to this circuit with a different phase of my ministry before me as a Supernumerary Minister, I felt the Lord and everyone I met encouraging me to be of good faith.

I believed the Lord had gone before preparing me for a new walk with Him.

At the beginning of September (a new Methodist Year) we become a New Circuit and a Larger Circuit (together may we look to God in prayer, bible study and fellowship. Communication is the key.

There will be many new challenges and new people to meet and new places to visit.

In Matthews Gospel we are encouraged “ Not to Worry”. “But to strive first for the kingdom of God, and His righteousness.” (Matthew 6:33).

As we go through necessary changes in the months ahead, I pray that this vision of God’s kingdom will always hold sway in this new venture and the churches we are called to serve in and reach out from.

As a new door opens for this circuit, I include the metaphor of a dance that is just beginning to describe our relationship as Ministers, Leaders and Congregations. With the pandemic (which is now behind us) the music began to fade. Now we have a new opportunity to engage with every dip, turn, and even the awkward moments when we may step on each other’s toes. However, the Lord has chosen us to be his dance partner.

Stay strong and well and may the Lord of the dance bless us and on this new venture.

I will be praying for you all as we travel as God’s beloved and chosen people that we may know the Lord’s love and light shining among us as we continue to journey together with our Saviour who is Jesus Christ the Lord.

"If through the power of the Holy Spirit as we allow Jesus to guide us we will always have a mission".

God Bless you all,

With my love and prayers

Church Anniversary

In February 2026, Trinity Methodist Church Loughborough, celebrates 60 years on the Royland Road site.

This is becoming more interesting as we approach our Church Festival next June.

Now you might think that June was the Church anniversary and you can be forgiven for thinking this. For after all King Charles has two birthdays so celebrations can be held in a time when the weather is more suitable.

Over the past six weeks the party wall between Trinity and number 10 Forest Road has been repointed. During this time we have discovered that it is 1) A Victorian build wall. This was identified in the missing coping stones which are unobtainable and have been replaced aesthetically.

2) The evidence of some unusual brickwork, This is viewed from number 10 Forest road and appears to be underneath the pathway alongside our Choir Vestry. Our plot of land is higher at this stage.

What was this feature, is it a water course, an entrance to a former garden feature, or?

Speaking to one of our young members of 1966 (Bobby) he recollects there was a cellar in that area. Maybe you know more?

If you find this interesting and would like to know or share more of the history of Trinity there is a looseleaf file at the rear of the Worship area with many more photos of the building of our Church. Including an early picture of probably the first organ being played on the site!

Announcement on the development of the former Teamprint and Quiet Room.

Construction commenced on Monday 4th August for up to eight weeks. This will have implications on various areas of Trinity and we ask you bear these in mind as you attend our activities during this period of construction.

The hard standing area at the Park Road end of the building will not be available for parking.

Our carpark may be busier than normal on weekdays. Please be considerate during the eight week period.

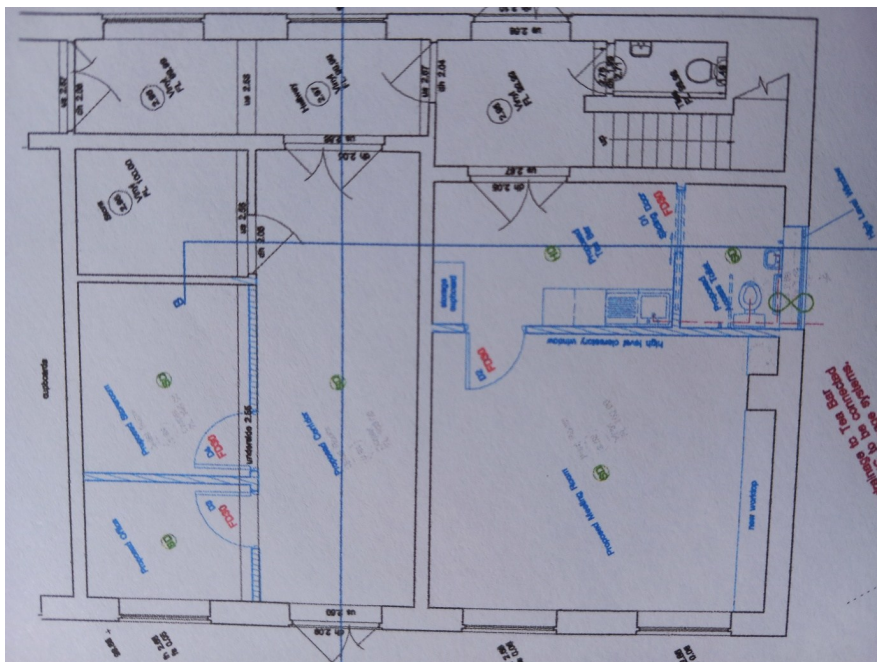

Coffee Bar. For safety reasons the door to the lobby by the quiet room will be locked off. For Fire evacuation please use exit routes via the crush hall and main doors or exit via the fire escape door and through the playground and the garden.

Upper hall. Fire evacuation will continue as signposted. However if there is a need to escape via the door by the stage, continue down the stairs and turn right to exit at the fire door onto Royland Road.

Do not continue through the lobby towards the coffee bar.

Please direct any questions to Andy Thorpe or Nigel Cox

Thank you for your contribution to keeping our folks safe during this period.

Harvest supper:

We will start our harvest weekend with a harvest supper of jacket potatoes, chilli or bolognese on Saturday 4th October. Arrivals from 6pm, with food served at 6:15pm. This will be followed by a quiz prepared by Hedley.

Karen will be leading our harvest service the following day.

Good luck Pipet's!

We wish the family all the best on their move to Salisbury, where Dorothy takes up her post as Probationary minister in the Salisbury Methodist Circuit.

Dorothy and John being presented with a picture of Old John, in Bradgate Country Park, at the service on 29th June.

Memories

Part 3 of our trip down memory lane about the churches which combined to become Trinity Methodist Church 60 years ago.

Pearl Butcher's memories of Leicester Road Methodist Church, with input from her daughter Christine.

Pearl's family moved to Loughborough to be near family after the war. Pearl was born in 1924 and christened at Leicester Road so she has been a part of church life for 101 years. Her family were also very involved in the life of the church, which was also attended by her grandparents.

As with many of us, Sunday was church. The family went to the morning and evening services and it was Sunday School on Sunday afternoons. Church was a focal point for many and the church was well attended. It was quite a traditional church.

She remembers the church being on one side of the road and the school room on the opposite side of the road. The church was a big church with two doors from the pavement, one at each side. There was a gallery and impressive pillars down the full length of the church. The pews were wooden and there was huge organ at the front of the church on the gallery.

The minister stayed for 7 years before, as was the custom in Methodism, moving on. It was always sad when they moved on because they had always become an integral part of church life and had been a friend as well as their minister.

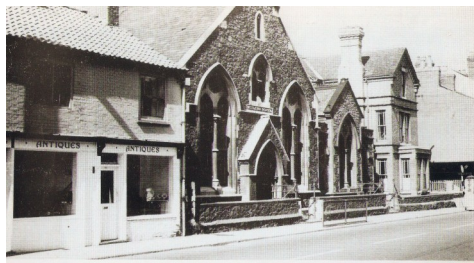

She remembers her father taking her down into the boiler room under the school room one day. The caretaker was Mr Porter and he showed her the pipes from the boiler, which ran under Leicester Road to heat the church. Apparently, there was always a line across the road to the church, which never had ice or snow on it due to the heat from the pipes.

Leicester Road Wesleyan
Methodist chapel

She remembers singing with the choir when she was a teenager. Mr Burnham was the organist. She and Christine both remembered 'the boards', planks of wood erected in tiers across the front of the church for the church anniversary. The children were arranged in age with the youngest at the front to the oldest at the back. Mr Colin Herrick played a part in this. The children learned songs and recitations and the girls always had new dresses. A lovely annual event. Social events took place in the school room. Pearl made up plays, which they performed. The ladies and men of the church arranged special events. These were called Ladies Efforts and Men's Efforts.

Leicester Road school rooms

She met her husband Geoff Moore through church but unfortunately Leicester Road had to be closed while the roof was replaced, so they had to get married at Nottingham Road instead.

Geoff was the church treasurer and oversaw the funds raised to build Trinity. Alongside a group of others, he visited possible locations for the new church building, before they decided on Royland Road. As the other churches closed and the congregation increased, Leicester Road became a livelier church with more activities and everyone working together to raise the funds needed.

It was decided that before the old house & gardens were demolished to lay the church foundations, there would be a big garden party fund raiser. Everyone got involved and had stalls or games. Christine & a friend walked round with a tray selling handkerchiefs. Inside the house there was a display of talents with different crafts etc on show. All in all, it was a wonderful day for everyone.

Then came the demolition and the special event to mark the laying of the foundation stone. An exciting time for everyone. Eventually the building was ready and the blended church family from Sparrow Hill, Swan Street and Leicester Road moved in and became Trinity Methodist Church.

MONDAY @2

Our last meeting for this session took place on June 16th when we were pleased to welcome Granville Mercy to chair our AGM. We were reminded of the various speakers & activities that had taken place over the past few months - a varied programme which had been compiled by our leader Christine Scoggins. Thanks were also expressed to Brian & Yvonne Relf who had kept our accounts in order for many months and were now ready to hand over the books to our new treasurer- Marie Kirkland has agreed to take on this responsibility. The election of officers took place and are as follows: Leader - Christine Scoggins; Secretary - Enid Shepherd; Treasurer - Marie Kirkland; Pastoral - Val Cousins; Committee Members - Chris Lincoln, Gwen Bowler and Maureen Leafe.

Our summer 'get together' took place on July 21st with a buffet lunch at St Joseph's tearooms. Beforehand many of us visited the nearby monastery and gift shop. The gardens had a beautiful display of roses and many remarked how peaceful it was there and although on our 'doorstep' hadn't been visited for years! The tearooms are usually closed on a Monday but they had agreed to open just for us and catered for twenty four. There was plenty of laughter and friendly chatter whilst eating and endless tea / coffee supplied!

Here are some photos from the event:

Our autumn session starts on September 1st with Margaret Hutchinson leading the afternoon with 'memories'. If you would like a list of our future meetings please contact Christine Scoggins and please feel free to join us anytime - £2 includes cuppa & biscuit - you will be very welcome.

Muslim Community Service Awards

I was quite amazed to receive a letter some time ago from the Muslim Community Service Awards informing me that I had been selected to receive an award in the Community Welfare category. The awards honour non Muslims, who help improve the lives of Muslims in the UK by fostering trust, respect and inclusion in our communities.

The Awards evening took place in London on 9th July, and was attended by almost one thousand people.

Following the awards ceremony, during which all recipients made speeches (mine was quite short!) the evening ended with a Gala Dinner.

There were ten recipients in five categories all of whom had wide experience in their field of expertise. These were: Education and Development, Community Cohesion, Community Engagement, Community Welfare and Justice and Equality. Quite a formidable line up when learning more about them and their work! I was the only woman to receive the award in person, the other being HM Coroner for Leicester, Professor Cathie Mason, who was unable to attend.

A brochure was produced giving our individual backgrounds and reasons for each award. It also included the details of the six very eminent judges, including two women, who were responsible for selecting the winners.

My citation reads:

Kathleen Jackson has been a pillar of community welfare and intercultural understanding in Loughborough since 1977. Beginning by teaching English to newly arrived South Asian adults, she helped generations of families integrate, thrive, and feel at home.

Her cultural sensitivity led her to travel to Bangladesh and India in the early 1980's to learn about the communities she supported. In Sylhet, moved by the hardship of children in slums and tea gardens, she became involved in 'Schools Under the Sky' now funded by Friends of Khasdobir, a UK charity supporting education and development in Bangladesh.

Over 25 years, Kathleen's fundraising – via talks to groups, open gardens, and community dinners supported by local Bangladeshi restaurants, helped to raise about £40,000 annually.

These funds now support 12 pre-primary schools, youth training, and aid for widows. Her work spans continents but is grounded in relationships: home visits, shared meals and Eid celebrations build trust and friendship between Bangladeshi and British families in Loughborough.

Kathleen's story shows how quiet dedication and deep connection can build stronger, more inclusive communities at home and abroad.

I am proud and honoured to have been nominated by the Muslim community for this. I have gained so much in return – lasting friendships, a deeper understanding of their faith and how it forms an integral part of daily life. I know that I have been led to look more deeply into my own faith as a result. We all share concerns about our families. Worries relating to employment, health, money, children, family members - especially as they age - can affect each of us regardless of who we are or what our background is.

80 Laps for 80 Years of Christian Aid

Team Sponsored Walk around Charnwood Water to Celebrate Christian Aid's 80 Years

Christian Aid was founded by British and Irish churches in 1945 to help refugees following the Second World War. For 80 years, Christian Aid has provided humanitarian relief and long-term development support for poor communities worldwide, while highlighting suffering, tackling injustice and championing people's rights.

To celebrate 80 years of amazing work we are challenging people to get together in teams and collect sponsorship to walk (or for the extreme a jog/run) 80 laps of Charnwood Water. A lap of Charnwood Water is three quarters of a mile, so the full team challenge is 60 miles or 96.5Km. Teams can be any size that works for you. For example, if you can get 40 people they would need to average just 2 laps or 1.5 miles each. Everyone on the team does not have to do the same number of laps so maybe one person could do 5 or even 10 laps and some others just do a single lap helping to get the team total up to 80 laps.

I would like to see if we can get Trinity and people associated with it to get a team that can do 80 laps. This could include our regular congregation but maybe you could also make it a family event and invite your children and grandchildren to join you. We can see if we can get Brigade members etc. Who knows, as I have not asked her yet – sorry Emma for this challenge - , but maybe we might get our very own deputy mayoress doing a few laps for the Trinity team given she has shown her ability by going round Rutland Water (see page 18) this would feel like a doddle.

The date is Saturday 27th September 2025, and you can come any time between 10:00AM and 3:00PM at a time that works for you. Our Loughborough MP Dr Jeevun Sandher will start us off at 10:00AM. Water and squash and biscuits will be provided.

If you would like to help with Trinity's effort can you please sign the list on the board in the crush hall and indicate how many laps you (and family?) might be able to do. Or talk to or email Andy Thorpe (andythorpe01509@gmail.com)

Sponsorship forms will then be provided, and donations can also be done on this online page <https://fundraise.christianaid.org.uk/fundraiser-2025/trinity-methodist-church-sponsored-walk>

If you aren't in a position to help with the walking you can of course contribute by sponsoring the Trinity team on the above link.

80 Laps for 80 Years of Christian Aid

Join our sponsored walk around Charnwood Water on the 27th September between 10am - 3pm

Can you raise a team from your church members, youth group, uniformed organisation or other group to walk or jog a combined total of 80 laps. If not come on your own to help the Christian Aid Supporters Team reach our target.

Blessings upon Blessings:

Each year Trinity gives £2000 of our funds as a Mission giving to International, National, Connexional and local projects, this year is no exception.

In our discussions at our recent Church Council we heard of the Redeemed Christian Church of God (RCCG) Parish in Loughborough who have agreed to purchase the former Holy Trinity Church on Rutland Street in Loughborough.

They currently hire John Storer house and wish to have their own property.

They recognise a need to have start-up monies for the initial restoration of the building and were undertaking a Heritage Prayer Walk on 5th July of the Parish Churches of Loughborough to raise funds.

We agreed at our Church Council to give a donation from the Mission Giving fund of £150 as a gift offering from us.

They were so overwhelmed with our generosity that they immediately re-routed their heritage prayer walk and included Trinity. They met with Bobby who shared some of our potted history and they concluded with a prayer for our mission.

A Blessing given. A Blessing received and
A Blessing given for our mission?

Other projects supported this year have been:- All We Can, Christian Aid, Action for Children, LWPT, Methodist Property Fund, Northampton District Benevolent Fund, Local Street Pastors, Loughborough Hospital Chaplaincy.

Nigel Wrighton's Coffee Morning

On 19th July Nigel Wrighton held an Open House. Despite the rain 17 of us gathered inside and enjoyed conversation and scones with strawberries, jam and cream and a homemade sponge. £145 was raised for the Aortic Dissection charitable trust.

Thank you everyone who contributed.

Boys' Brigade News:

The Company Awards Evening was held on Wednesday 18 June. The guests of honour were the Mayor and Mayoress of Charnwood, Cllr Dave Northage and Mrs Jenny Northage. Badges were presented to boys including Juniors Silver to George and Ethan and Company Badges to Aiden, Jirah and Nye. Trophies were presented including Captains Cups to Winston (Anchors), George and Ethan jointly (Juniors) and Company to Nye. Nye also gained promotion to Lance Corporal.

The Band performed at the Armed Forces Day event on Queens Park on Saturday 28 June.

The Company is now on holiday and will meet together again on Wednesday 3 September for a new exciting session. The Company is keen to receive new members; Boys aged from 5 upwards are eligible to join a section of the Company relevant to their age. We meet on Wednesday evenings in term time at Trinity from 6.00pm. The joint Brigades Band practice is on Tuesday evenings at Trinity from 7.00pm.

Rolling and walking around Rutland Water

Earlier in the year I listened to Karen's and Brett's experience of walking the Camino Pilgrimage.

That made me think about doing something similar.

However being a wheelchair user creates lots of barriers to doing such things.

The last part of the Camino trail is accessible but needs a lot of planning.

I decided I needed to build up to something like that.

Some of the British pilgrimages weren't accessible either.

So I decided to do an easier, nearer option. Not a pilgrimage as such but a challenge all the same.

I decided I was going to roll around the circumference of Rutland Water

Somehow, I managed to talk Rachel Thorpe into joining me on this expedition. Rachel is very brave, joining me on various adventures.

We decided the 24th to 26th June was a few days where we were both free and the weather would hopefully be warm enough to limit the amount of clothing we needed to take.

I looked at the map and found an airbnb and a pub with rooms that were available the two nights we would be away that were about 7 or 8 miles apart. Parking was organised at Empingham, to leave the car for 3 days. The week approached and temperatures soared!! Was it going to be too hot? The week happened to be in between the 2 hottest weekends of the year - so far. But temperature during the week looked manageable and being around the reservoir hopefully would provide some breeze.

I added an under seat bag to my chair for equipment - inner tube, pump, map, etc and the bag on the back of the chair was for clothes.

We were set.

Then morning came and except for a little detour provided by the Satnav we arrived at our start up point.

Car emptied of supplies, Dolly attached to my chair and we were off.

Rachel was carrying her own rucksack to test if this was still a viable thing to do, as a lot of the walks she and Andy do, they get their belongings transported to the next stop for them, so this proved a valuable experiment for her, knowing if needed she could put the rucksack on my chair.

We made our way to Sykes Lane entrance, and stopped for our 1st refreshment break.

We were travelling clockwise around the lake, so headed off towards Normanton Church.

After a public outcry when the valley was earmarked for flooding the higher level of Normanton Church was saved. It is now used as a wedding venue and museum.

We stopped at the waterside cafe for lunch, plugged my chair in to recharge - just in case, and had a lovely lunch overlooking the view of the reservoir.

Dolly was grateful for the sit down and any treats that were passed to her. After a much needed break and refuel, we set off towards Lyndon, a nature reserve at Rutland. During our traversing that day, we saw, sheep, cattle, a lot of birds mostly unidentifiable by us, except swans, geese, mallards and grebes, we were yet to see an Osprey. We also saw a Muntjac deer.

We stopped at the Lyndon Nature reserve for another refreshment break and met some lovely ladies there. We saw lots of little birds - wasted on us as our bird knowledge is minimal, but seeing them and hearing their calls was lovely.

Our last leg of the day was to find our accommodation in Manton.

On the pictures the property was a single storey attachment to the main house in a lovely garden. I didn't see the steps around the garden to get to it, but not a problem, they were single steps, so I walked behind the chair and tipped the chair up or down, with a little help from Rachel and we were there. A trip to the local pub and a good night's sleep (after removing all the feather - allergic - pillows and duvet off the bed - luckily it was a warm night). I thought Wednesday was going to be the easy day!!!

We set off from Oak tree annex at about 9-9:30am ish.

We stopped at the bird watching centre at Eggleton for refreshments and some bird watching.

Strangely the most interesting thing I saw - considering I'm an arachnophobe - was a spider residing on the other side of the window, the markings were stunning. The photo I took didn't do it justice & I decided most wouldn't want to see it.

Then off to the peninsula taking in a pair of Osprey en route, what magnificent birds a privilege to witness and lunch.

We lunched at the hotel we would be stopping at, unfortunately the car park didn't allow me space to get through in the chair, so we had to go round the back to the patio area, where we stopped for lunch, bad move, as we were outside, I didn't plug the chair in to charge. Because it was only lunchtime we decided to explore the peninsula.

It was quite undulating terrain and mostly not tarmaced, through woods. We were about 500m ish from returning to the pub when the chair stopped dead, at the bottom of a steep incline!

I got out of the chair and used it as a rollator and managed to walk a good way up the slope, then the heat and exhaustion got the better of me. I got back in the chair and with Rachel pushing and me manually pushing the wheels we managed to get back to the pub, flopped and asked for a large jug of water. The staff were extremely accommodating, allowing Dolly to stay and plugging my chair in to recharge overnight. We had a couple of hours to cool down and relax before dinner.

After a good night's sleep we woke up, had a hearty breakfast, appreciated greatly by Dolly who scoffed a sausage, and a fried egg ready for the final slog.

It wasn't a slog though, this was the easiest of the days, in my opinion. Again we saw a pair of Ospreys and a singular one; not sure if it was just the same pair again or not.

We stopped at the Harbour cafe for lunch, and returned to Sykes Lane for a last stop before returning to Empingham. The car was still there! We were tired but happy, so we put all provisions back in the car and drove back to Loughborough and hit several places at school kicking out time so traffic was busy at places, especially at Barrow at school time with 3 way traffic lights, but we were happy to just sit and wait our turn and return to Loughborough. A great gentle adventure, another jaunt to tick off.

What's next? Who knows.

Parking Outside Trinity

I hope you don't mind me mentioning this, but I note that on a Sunday Morning there is a growing need for the spaces nearest the front doors.

We have cones for a couple of disabled spaces and emergency vehicles, but often these spaces go quickly, leaving others with longer walks.

I'm suggesting / hoping that those who can walk without problems, park further away leaving the right hand lane of Royland Road or directly opposite the front doors on the left hand lane clear for those with mobility issues. If you have things to bring into the church, you could park up, bring what you need into the church, then re-park your car.

This does make a huge difference and shows that we as a church care for our members.

Thank you,

Emma Lowe

Live Transcription Apps

Last year at Methodist Summer Fellowship at Swanwick, I was introduced to an app that will write down a conversation as it is being said, so you can read it on your smart phone, I have found this really useful, I sometimes put it on during a Sunday to help me follow the service, I also put it on sometimes in front of me if I'm having a conversation in a busy area. If I miss a word or 2 I can quickly look at my phone and check what I missed.

My App keeps the conversation for 3 days also, so you can recap a conversation.

I would highly recommend using a similar App if you struggle in some situations. If you have a smart phone go to your App store and search for live transcription Apps or ask a teenager or young adult to find it for you.
